vervoe

See people do the job, before they get the job

Vervoe predicts job performance using AI-powered skills assessments, customized to your role and business needs, that showcase the talent of every candidate.

Our SaaS platform's unique value is not in choosing the best fit for your role but empowering you to make the best choice using data.

Skill testing gives your business a competitive advantage in today's job market

Companies that invest in skills assessments are 4x more likely to improve quality of hire, 3x more likely to improve retention, and 42% more likely to improve candidate experience.

Find the right talent that has the skills to drive your business forward that other companies are overlooking in their outdated hiring processes.

Give your hiring managers the confidence, with data to back it up, in your companies ability to consistently hire the right person.

Improve candidate and employee engagement by allowing candidates to prove their skills during the hiring process.

Discover how Vervoe helps you identify the perfect hire

1 Create your ideal assessment

With our guided assessments creator, you can write your own questions or choose from our bank of 300,000+, or you can use a template from our assessment library of 300+ verified tests.

2 Invite and track candidate progress

Easily invite candidates via email, or generate a quick link for your job ad, career page or social channel to track candidate source. All can be custom-branded to include your brand's logo, colors, and unique messaging.

3 Optimize your assessment

Our AI is instantly deployable, comparing responses against millions of data points. Over time, our AI learns to understand what good and bad answers look like for you so we'll grade your candidates like you would.

4 Select what really matters

Candidate results come to life with scores, ranking, trophies and top performer badges, allowing you to unearth what's most important to you.

5 Hire hidden gems

Once you've found the perfect candidate for your role, mark them as "Hired." Your successful candidate report cards are then easily accessible in your company overview.
